ZOO'S GUIDE TO ALL YOU NEED TO KNOW, WATCH, BUY & LAUGH AT THIS WEEK!

Daenerys
(aka Emilia Clarke)

And body double Rosie Mac!

"I love being a Game Of Thrones babe!"

Rosie Mac peels off to reveal the amazing body that doubles for GoT's Daenerys Targaryen...

If you thought a couple of fire-breathing dragons were the hottest thing about Game of Thrones' fifth season, think again! We meet Cornish stunner Rosie Mac, who works alongside Emilia Clarke (Daenerys Targaryen) as her body double. Season six has never felt so far away...

HI, ROSIE! ARE YOU A GAME OF THRONES FANATIC LIKE THE REST OF THE WORLD?
Oh, absolutely! Whenever I get a minute, I try to catch up. I haven't seen the last couple of episodes, but somehow I've avoided all the spoilers!

BEING DAENERYS' SEXY BODY DOUBLE MUST BE THE BEST JOB IN THE WORLD...

The atmosphere on set is unreal. The only thing is, you have to start early – it takes a long time to look this good! But it's the most stress-free job. I love it!

WHICH OF THE SHOW'S STARS ARE THE MOST FUN BEHIND THE SCENES?

Emilia is the best, she's so lovely, and Iain Glen (Jorah Mormont) is a great guy. I tend to hang around with all the doubles backstage, though. There are a few of us.

THERE'S LOADS OF SEX AND NUDITY ON GoT. DOES ANY OF THAT TRANSLATE BACKSTAGE?

You mean, do people just walk around naked? You're making me blush, ZOO! I wouldn't know, actually. Daenerys has been well-behaved this season!

WHAT'S THE REACTION BEEN LIKE FROM FANS?

They always comment on my pics online, and I get noticed a lot when I'm out. I even have some semi-famous fans...

LIKE WHO?

Britain's Got Talent's Calum Scott commented on one of my pics using a love heart emoji. I loved him on BGT, so I couldn't believe it!

SO HOW COULD WE DATE A WESTEROS HOTTIE?

I love the beach, so a date there would be ideal!

Rosie and the GoT body doubles on set!

The BEST games from E3 2015!

ZOO heads to California to get first dibs on all the biggest new games that will dominate your life for the next 18 months. And we're joined by a very sexy sidekick – our resident gaming geek, Lucy Collett!

...with ZOO's gaming expert, Lucy Collett!

Fallout 4

Since the release of Fallout 3, there has yet to be another open world adventure that's captured the imagination quite like Bethesda's post-apocalyptic epic, but Fallout 4 seems up to the task. We're in no doubt, this is a serious contender for game of the year.

OUT 10 NOVEMBER

017 / 474 AP

Star Wars Battlefront

The force is strong with this one. And based on the impressive hands-on we had, there might finally be new hope for shooting games come Christmas. Doubters needn't worry: although developed by the same team, this is much more than just a cheap Battlefield clone.

OUT 17 NOVEMBER

Deus Ex: Mankind Divided

The next outing for our cybernetic hero is picking up two years after the 2011 release, Human Revolution. Thankfully, it retains the action RPG qualities that have made it so successful and in truth there are no significant changes: just plenty more of the same great game, on a much larger and slicker scale.

OUT EARLY 2016

ZOO E3 SPECIAL!

LIVE REPORT

Halo 5

The most addictive first-person shooter ever is back, and the latest adventure lets you control two squads: one with Master Chief, and one with Locke, the Spartan hunting the chief. There's also a new multiplayer mode - Warzone - where it's "player vs everything". We confirm it's great fun!

OUT 27 OCTOBER

Essential explorers!

Rise Of The Tomb Raider

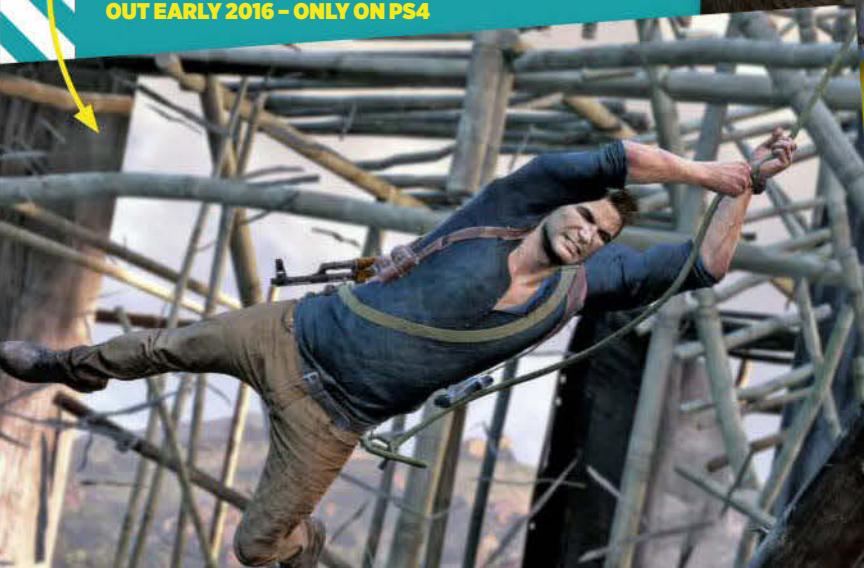

The Lara Croft reboot in 2013 was fantastic, and the follow-up is sure to enhance that brilliant building block. The gameplay footage we saw was crammed with perilous action-packed set-pieces, meaning Xbox aficionados finally have an exclusive to rival Uncharted!

OUT 10 NOVEMBER - ONLY ON XBOX ONE

Uncharted 4: A Thief's End

The Indiana Jones of video games is back and, by the look of it, Uncharted is better than ever. Our demo wasted no time in throwing hero Nathan Drake into a hectic street fight, before jumping into a jeep for a high-speed chase. It was just a small slice: we can't wait to see what else is in store.

OUT EARLY 2016 - ONLY ON PS4

LUCY COLLETT SAYS...

"I love both of these titles, and picking between them is virtually impossible - so I won't! No matter whether you've got an Xbox One or PS4, you're guaranteed one amazing adventure!"

More games this way!

CoD: Black Ops III

The setting and exo-armour might be oddly familiar when compared to Advanced Warfare, but there's something genuinely unique about how Black Ops III plays and feels. This is faster and more fluid, creating a more exciting and frantic experience.

OUT 6 NOVEMBER

Hitman

After three years away, IO-Interactive is introducing its most ambitious game ever. It's more of a sandbox, allowing players to take different approaches to every mission in an ever-expanding world of constantly increasing locations and contract kills.

OUT 8 DECEMBER

Need For Speed

This racing series is returning with an open world twice the size of the last game, Rivals. And – for the first time ever – they're letting you decide how you want to drive. It's not a drifting game; or an arcade racer; or a police chase. It's whatever you want it to be...

OUT 3 NOVEMBER

Assassin's Creed: Syndicate

After spending the past year in Paris, Ubisoft's flagship title is coming to London. No gameplay footage is available (yet), but we can't imagine hijacking horse-drawn carriages, train top fights or dive-bombing off Big Ben is anything but good fun.

OUT 23 OCTOBER

Just Cause 3

If you thought Far Cry games were crazy, wait until you get a load of this! It's a "silly sandbox" game, loaded with mayhem. If you're not sure what that means, imagine the main character surfing a missile, then wing gliding into a sports car to make his escape.

OUT 1 DECEMBER

E3 2015: MISSING IN ACTION

These games debuted at E3 2014, but are still nowhere to be found. Stop scratching your head: here's what's going on...

DEAD ISLAND 2

Deep Silver's zombie smash has been pushed back to spring 2016, in order to deliver on the game's "big goals", according to developers.

QUANTUM BREAK

This highly ambitious TV/game crossover has endured several setbacks, but should show its face for another update later this year.

HOMEFRONT: THE REVOLUTION

It's expected we'll hear more about this troubled post-apocalyptic open world shooter later this year. Let's just hope when we do it's not news of yet another delay!

CRACKDOWN

The mental trailer at E3 last year caused quite a stir, but it's likely we won't see anything further until GamesCom in August.

SCALEBOUND

An epic fantasy RPG packed with dragons that's seemingly dropped off the map. Hopefully, there's more to come from this.

Destiny: The Taken King

BAFTA's best game of 2015 is getting bigger with its latest expansion. Not quite a sequel, this larger than typical addition introduces a new enemy faction and three crazy looking special supers for your Warlocks, Hunters and Titans. Where do we sign?

OUT 15 SEPTEMBER

Battle of the bands!

Guitar Hero Live

The best game to play when you're hammered with your mates is returning to consoles, and there's a fresh new approach. But we're not only talking about the game's new realistic video sequences: there's a new guitar to master, too. On the other hand...

Rock Band 4

...wants to make you feel like a rock god. To do this, they're giving amateur rockstars the chance re-write classic solos and improvise however you want. Throw in the ability to re-use old Rock Band equipment, and we've got a genuine battle to find which of these giants will be next-gen's No!

GUITAR HERO: LIVE IS OUT IN SEPTEMBER.
ROCK BAND 4 IS OUT 6 OCTOBER

LUCY COLLETT SAYS...

"I had so much fun creating my own solos in Rock Band 4, but I love how Guitar Hero's new axe and buttons are more like a real guitar. It'll take some getting used to, but I'll be a rock goddess in no time!"

Turn over for 2016 games!

The games of the future!

Mirror's Edge Catalyst

The only bad thing you can say about free-running classic Mirror's Edge is it was way too short. But given this hotly anticipated sequel is one big open world not hampered by loading screens, we reckon it'll deliver in spades.

OUT 23 FEBRUARY 2016

Mass Effect 4

The follow-up to 2012's controversial trilogy-concluding Mass Effect 3 will tell an original story, following a new lead character in an unexplored galaxy with a Wild West setting. Further details are scarce but, like you, we can't wait to find out more!

OUT CHRISTMAS 2016

Horizon: Zero Dawn

The creators of Killzone had a surprise in store: a mysterious post-apocalyptic world, populated by mechanised creatures. It looked superb, and based on the amazing action-packed gameplay, it shouldn't be too far away, either.

OUT TBC 2016

Gears Of War 4

We've been lucky enough to get a lengthy insight into the next instalment in the Gears saga, and while it might have left us with more questions than answers, it still definitely looks like a fantastic shooter packed with plenty of action.

OUT CHRISTMAS 2016

Final Fantasy 7 Remake

For years, fans have been pleading with Square Enix to re-release the PlayStation cult-classic Final Fantasy. And in a surprising announcement – met with rapturous applause – that's what they have gone and done. And by god, did it look good!

OUT TBC 2016

Recore

The same team responsible for Nintendo's hit Metroid series showed off something that resembled Wall-E and Chappie, and while it looked unconventional, ZOO was particularly intrigued. We can't wait to see more.

OUT SPRING 2016

ZOO E3 SPECIAL!

LIVE REPORT

Doom

Of all the shooters coming next year, Doom is the one we can't wait to try. Maybe it was the sight of those big 'effing guns? Or how fast it looked? Most likely, it was the bloody, OTT violence that lured us in...

OUT SPRING 2016

Virtual reality is coming!

We've seen the future of video gaming – and you'll wear it on your face. Here's everything we learned about Sony and Microsoft's cool new VR headsets.

Sony Project Morpheus

Unlike most virtual reality headsets ZOO has experienced, the Morpheus was the first we could see ourselves using sat in the comfort of our own home. The games were incredible, from an updated version of '80s classic BattleZone, to gut-wrenching experiences that plonked us into our very own Saw nightmare!

OUT TBC 2016

Microsoft HoloLens

Of everything shown during the Xbox press conference, the HoloLens was the one announcement which had the entire arena release a collective gasp with excitement. ZOO watched as someone lifted an entire Minecraft world up from a small table on stage. We've never seen anything like it and we want to see more!

OUT TBC 2016

LUCY COLLETT SAYS...

"The HoloLens was really impressive, but I'm still waiting to see what else it can do. However, I'm a Sony girl, so I have to pick Project Morpheus: it has some incredible games, so I really hope it comes out soon!"

UPFRONT

Gonna need a bigger boat... literally!

W.T.F!

The maddest thing we've seen this week!

HENCH HALIBUT

This mad fisherman wrestled a 7ft monster – just for a photo!

Get FACT
Halibut can grow up to 15ft long. The largest ever caught weighed 37st – heavier than an adult male gorilla!

We've spent hours researching and looking for fantastic fish stories – and we've finally caught one! Swedish fisherman Erik Axner landed a 15st halibut, before clambering overboard for a photo.

He spent an hour wrestling the monster alongside his boat, until he could finally put it in its plaise, and then the realisation hit him that his whopping haul was too big to pull into the boat!

Erik couldn't go without a photo, so decided to hop overboard and dish out a big halibut hug as he posed for the camera, before letting his heroic catch swim free.

POWER!

Top Gear

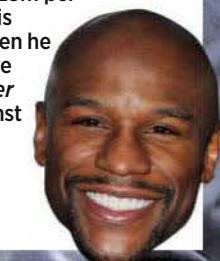

The race to be co-host!

The hunt for Chris Evans' new sidekick is heating up – and ZOO has picked the faces we'd like to see on the BBC show!

Floyd Mayweather Jr

A man whose fleet of supercars beats what Top Gear goes through in an entire series. "Money" might sniff at the £5m per year Evans is getting, given he earned more than that per round against Manny Pacquiao!

ODDS:
50-1

Megan Fox

If it was good enough for Michael Bay to have lovely Megan gratuitously bending over a car bonnet in the first Transformers movie, then it's certainly good enough for us!

ODDS:
100-1

Matisse the dog

The Britain's Got Talent 2015 winner is multi-talented, so standing next to Evans and guffawing at some dad jokes should prove no problem. And if it is? Well, his mate Chase the dog could step in as back-up.

ODDS:
500-1

Jose Mourinho

The Chelsea boss may have been handed a six-month driving ban, but we suspect he would be useful for stunts involving larger vehicles given his expertise at "bus parking".

ODDS:
100-1

Vladimir Putin

A show hosted by middle-aged alpha males in stone-washed denim, battling a slight mid-life crisis? Step forward Vlad, who would probably be tougher to chase out of a country should a stunt go awry.

ODDS:
500-1

Boris Johnson

Has already presented Have I Got News For You. OK, he tells cabbies to "fk off and die", but we're sure this is just the bumbling mayor's famously offbeat wit. His new franchise, Star On A Reasonably Priced Hire Bike, would be unmissable.

ODDS:
25-1

Alan Partridge

Owes a pair of string-backed driving gloves and loves an in-car sing-along. We can't wait for the episode where he drives to Dundee barefoot eating Toblerone.

ODDS:
12-1

Jeremy Clarkson

Well, you never know, do you...

ODDS:
12-1

Following the most protracted and controversial ousting of 2015 (Jeremy Clarkson, not Sepp Blatter), Top Gear hired Chris Evans as its new presenter. Now, they are holding open auditions for one or more co-hosts, inviting anyone "famous or not" to apply for a role on the BBC show. There's only one requirement: you've got to know about cars.

Naturally, ZOO has a few suggestions – and we got their (slightly long) odds, courtesy of our mates over at Paddy Power!

VOTE NOW, IT'S...

ZOO'S HOT 101 2015

LUISA
NEEDS YOU!

SHE WAS A RUNNER-UP
ON THE APPRENTICE AND CELEBRITY BIG BROTHER.
BUT CAN SHE WIN THE MOST COVETED PRIZE OF ALL?

Voting is open for the world's most famous girl countdown! And YOU need to vote NOW!

Attention all lovers of nature's wonder that is the female: your crucial insight and acumen is needed – right here, right now.

Whether you are male, female, or simply a single-cell organism with both an excellent broadband connection and strong opinions, we want YOU to vote for YOUR Hottest Woman In The World!

ZOO's Hot 101 is the ultimate babe countdown, culminating with the crowning of the most jaw-droppingly gorgeous woman on the planet.

Last year's champ, the gorgeous Kate Upton, held off all-comers (via tens of thousands of YOUR votes) to claim first place.

But don't let the Mourinho-esque Upton simply walk to another title. To vote for your favourite hottie, cast your vote NOW at ZOOTODAY.COM!

THE VERY STRICT RULES OF VOTING

1. We are voting for sexy ladies here (not for the FIFA Presidency, so we cannot be bribed). OK?
2. You only get one vote, so don't go and waste it (see rule #3).
3. As per every year ZOO has done the Hot 101, "me", "my missus" and "your mum" won't be counted. It's not smart, it's a bit clever, it is very funny. But it WON'T be counted.
4. That is pretty much it. So, what are you waiting for? Get on and vote. Now! GO! NOW!

LAST YEAR'S

TOP 10!

1. KATE UPTON
2. ROSIE JONES
3. LUISA ZISSMAN
4. HELEN FLANAGAN
5. LUCY MECKLENBURGH
6. MICHELLE KEEGAN

HAYEMAKER

David Haye is pulling no punches – only in ZOO

Real deal Deontay

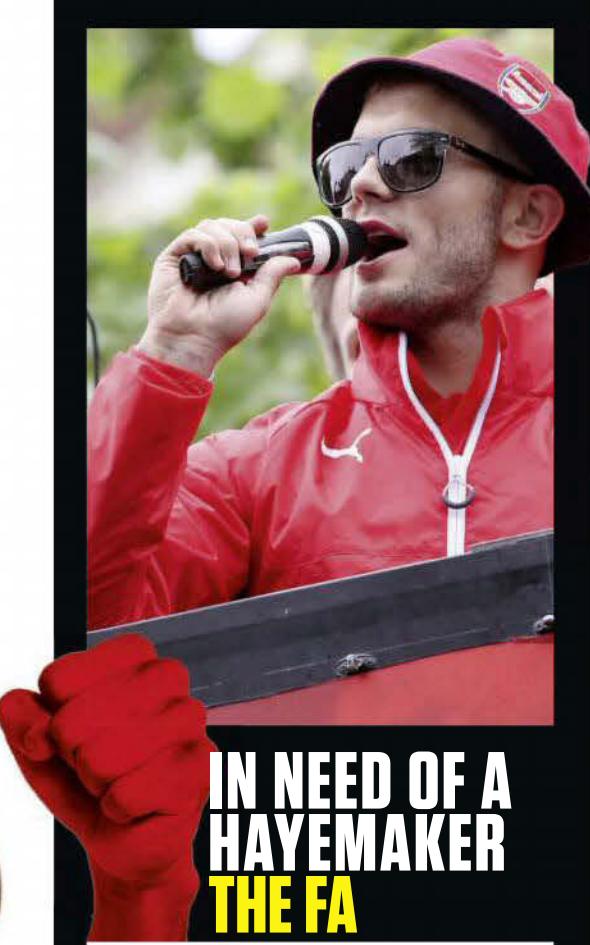

The heavyweight division is really heating up with somebody other than a Klitschko brother holding a title. Deontay Wilder got the job done in his first defence against Eric Molina, knocking him out in nine rounds.

Having worked with Deontay in the gym and seen him up close and personal, I can say he's the real deal. He can hit as hard as anyone on the planet with his right hand, and that's his danger weapon. If you can stay away from his right hand for 12 rounds, then you've got a chance. He's very fast and aggressive, and doesn't mind mixing it up, which you don't expect from a big guy.

Conversely, that aggression could be his undoing if he goes toe-to-toe with someone like Alexander Povetkin. There would be a lot of bombs going off in that one if it happens!

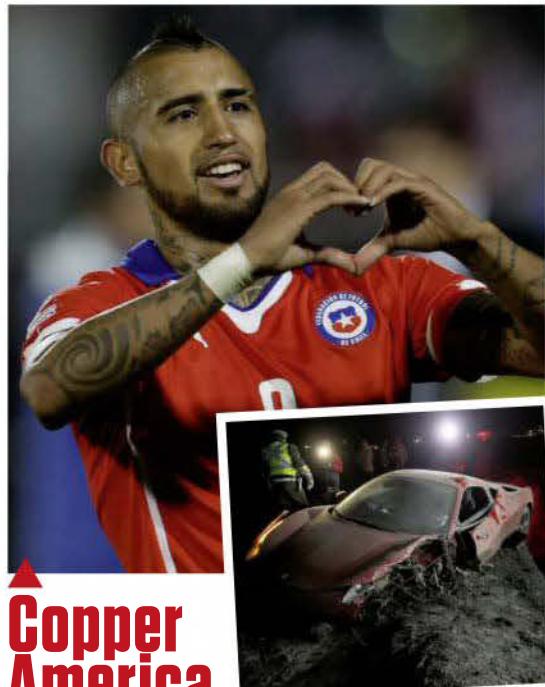

EMAIL YOUR QUESTIONS FOR DAVID TO HAYEMAKER@ZOOTODAY.COM

IN NEED OF A HAYEMAKER THE FA

I can't believe the FA fined Jack Wilshere £40,000 for singing a "friendly" chant about rivals Spurs at Arsenal's FA Cup victory parade. Every Arsenal fan in that crowd would have heard and sang the song, so I'm not sure who he was offending.

The FA should make players donate money to a charity of their choice for any minor offences, so they at least turn it into something good. I doubt this fine is going to stop him from singing the same thing again if Arsenal win the Cup for a third time next season, will it?

Copper America

Arturo Vidal is not only smashing up the Copa America: he's also smashing up his Ferrari. Apparently when police arrived he said, "Handcuff me, but you'll be sh*tting on whole of Chile!" You wouldn't like to be in that situation!

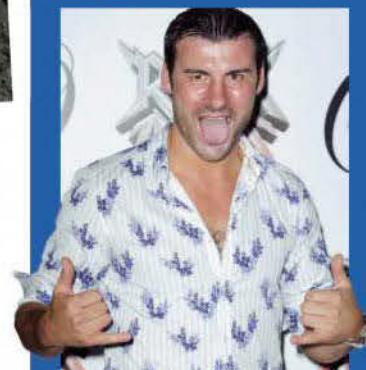

If you're patriotic, the nation's hopes would be weighing heavy, especially with the tournament in your backyard. What Vidal doesn't realise is it's him who's "sh*tting on Chile", not the cops, by doing it in the first place.

◀ Mouse on a plane

Forget Snakes On A Plane: I was done by a mouse on one last week, when it was spotted on my Emirates flight to Dubai. There was a bit of a commotion, and I thought I was going to have to start dishing out Hayemakers. They had to ground the flight because the little fella went into hiding and there was a risk it could gnaw through some important cables, or cause food poisoning.

We were well looked after in the interim with hotels and good food and flew out the next day, so it wasn't all bad!

ASK DAVID!

Who's the biggest party animal in the boxing world?

PAUL WELLING, Tamworth

Who can live with the Hayemaker? I'd say Joe Calzaghe, as I've been out on the town with him and he's undefeated on a night out as well as in the ring! My old pal Ricky Hatton can also party with the best of them!

Trump for President

It was funny to see Donald Trump officially throw his name in the hat for the President of the United States. After claiming he would be the "greatest jobs President ever" and would build a wall on the country's border with Mexico and make the Mexicans pay for it, he's definitely got a different approach.

I think he'd probably get a few votes as well because he's not a politician, so he won't sugarcoat things: he'll tell it how it is, in true self-made millionaire style!

KTM's all-electric off-road monster is put through its paces

Vital statistics

ENGINE 16kW electric motor
POWER 20bhp/42Nm torque
RIDE TIME 45 to 60 mins
CHARGE TIME 80 mins
PRICE £9,999

Some will argue that tearing up a motocross course without the rip-roaring engine soundtrack is like watching Glastonbury on mute: completely pointless and very disappointing.

But KTM's new range of all-electric Freeride-E machines is out to prove the grumbling cynics wrong, as the bike's powerful 16kW permanent magnet synchronous electric motor, which develops the equivalent of 20bhp and 42Nm of torque, is more than enough to take on the petrol-powered big boys.

ZOO was let loose around E-SCAPE – the UK's first all-electric off-road course – and soon we were making the most of the instant torque, getting airborne over a series of jumps and soiling trousers during some challengingly tight berms.

The KTM Freeride E-SX will happily handle around 45 minutes of flat-out racing (more than enough for those of average fitness levels) and can fully recharge in around 80 minutes from a standard wall socket.

Plus, KTM will sell you a Supermoto model that's perfectly geared for both smooth and wallet-pleasing commutes, as well as for the occasional thrashing off-road.

At £9,999 it may not be one of the cheapest dirt bikes out there, but it's certainly one of the most advanced, thrilling and planet-friendly rides around.

MORE MOTORING NEWS

Alpine reveals its new racer

Renault-owned Alpine is set for a comeback and this is the best indication of what the French marque's racy new sports car could look like. Unveiled at this year's Le Mans 24-Hour event, there was no mention of engines, but expect it to cost around £50k when it lands.

BMW's Concept Path 22 bike: it's a surfer's dream

BMW rocked up to the Wheels & Waves festival in Biarritz, France, this year in true style with a heavily modified R nineT model complete with surf rack. The Path 22 bike, which is named after a secret surf spot in France, features deep-tread tyres and scrambler-style bars so it can venture off the beaten track. Gnarly.

Nissan Juke-R... with added Nismo

Do you remember the ferocious Juke-R? You know, the ugly SUV with a 485bhp, 3.8-litre V6 engine under the bonnet? Well, it's set to return, but with Nismo's tuned 592bhp engine on board. You can catch it blasting up the hill at the Goodwood Festival Of Speed later this week.

GAME of the week!

Batman: Arkham Knight

The previous two Batman games from Rocksteady were unbelievable. This third and final entry swings for the fences, introducing a fully functional Batmobile to an otherwise perfect title.

Thankfully, it isn't another case of throwing in a car willy-nilly, either. It's genuinely good fun, be it driving around Arkham, chasing villains or blowing up tanks.

That aside, it's business as usual. There is a cracking new storyline and a city five times larger than the already massive Arkham City. More interesting however, are appearances from Robin, Catwoman and Nightwing, who aid you in your fights with some amazing looking co-op takedowns.

Unquestionably, this is the best and most fully formed Bat game ever devised.

OK, who put on Mambo No5?

She's Funny That Way

Owen Wilson is one hell of a lucky guy in Peter Bogdanovich's latest NYC-based screwball comedy. He plays Arnold Albertson, a Broadway director whose stable and loving marriage (to hilarious Kathryn Hahn) is beginning to wear thin.

He decides to spice things up and enlists lovely wannabe actress Isabella (Imogen Poots) as an escort for a few evenings while working away from home. But he ends up falling for her (who can blame him?) and desperately tries to kick-start her career.

Also starring Jennifer Aniston (as an unsympathetic shrink) and Will Forte, this isn't as memorable as the starry cast list would have you believe. But with steamy sex scenes aplenty, it's well worth a watch.

The Hot List

Force Majeure

This wickedly funny and precisely observed psychodrama knocked everyone for six at this year's Cannes Film Festival, and tells the story of a model Swedish family. The sun is shining and the slopes are spectacular but, during lunch at a mountainside restaurant, an avalanche turns everything upside down. Hilarious and memorable, buy it now! ★★★★☆

DVD!

It Follows

When Jay (Maika Monroe) finally bunks up with her new boyfriend, she learns she's the latest recipient of a fatal curse that is passed from victim to victim via sexual intercourse. As death creeps inexorably towards her, her mates don't believe her paranoid ravings, and things start to kick off. It's one you'll be thinking about for months when the lights are off. ★★★☆☆

DVD!

Legacy

The most unlikely friendship group in the world gets banned from the biggest teen party in London, so they decide to create a rave of their own. With every eye-rolling youth culture cliché systematically ticked off, it's more An Education than Adulthood. It's only saved by a host of hot girls embracing nudity and British comedian Tom Davis' portrayal of a bouncer. ★★★☆☆

DVD!

Everly

If you're after an all-hell-breaks-loose, barbaric action flick featuring a lot of blood, bullets and a stunning, fearless female mobster (a bra-less Salma Hayek), this could be for you. You just have to overlook the tired plot (borrowed from Die Hard, one million per cent), underdeveloped characters and relentlessly distracting gunfire. Other than that, you're in for a treat! ★★★☆☆

FILM!

A QUICK WORD WITH...

TOM DAVIS STAR OF BRIT COMEDY LEGACY

HEY, TOM! SO LET'S TALK ABOUT LEGACY...

It focuses on loads of college kids desperate to go to a rave, but they get banned from going, so they put on their own event. I play Roger, he's the head of security for the party. He lives with his mum. He's a proper nice bloke, but also has that element of a dark side about him.

WHAT WAS IT LIKE WORKING WITH A LOAD OF LOUD, YOUNG PEOPLE? QUITE A CHANGE FROM FILMING BBC THREE'S MURDER IN SUCCESSVILLE?

It was great, but a completely different vibe. The young actors are a laugh. Working with them was one of the reasons I jumped onboard. I'm all about nurturing young talent. None of them had been to drama school, much like myself. If Leigh Francis (Keith Lemon) hadn't brought me into the comedy circuit, I'd still be a scaffolder and market trader.

MUCH LIKE LEIGH HIMSELF...

Exactly. I did some stand-up gigs here and there, and I used to make skits with the director of Murder In Successville (James De Frond). We showed Leigh our stuff and he supported us.

IN THE LEGACY FRIENDSHIP GROUP, YOU'VE GOT THE GEEK, THE ONE WHO CAN'T STOP EATING, THE COOL ONE AND THE CHEEKY ONE WHO NEVER GETS LAID. WHICH WERE YOU GROWING UP?

I was the one who couldn't stop eating and the one who couldn't get laid. In my head, I thought I was cool. That wasn't the case. THE FILM CENTRES ON A HUGE PARTY. IF YOU WERE TO HOST ONE, WHICH OF THE FAMOUS PEOPLE YOU'VE WORKED WITH WOULD YOU INVITE?

Made In Chelsea's Jamie Laing would be great value, Kimberly Wyatt for her dance moves, and Dermot O'Leary could DJ with Greg James. Louis Smith could come, but he'd get all the bloody attention!

WHAT'S THE BEST NIGHT OUT YOU'VE HAD RECENTLY?

The wrap party for Murder In Successville was amazing. It was a messy pub-crawl, and if I'm having a heavy session, that's the sort of thing I like to do. I'm getting older now and I prefer a day out at a festival or going to the football. When it comes to 9pm, I just want my bed. I like watching the Geordie Shore lot party better than I can!

HOW TO SURVIVE
SUMMER WITH

BEAR GRYLLS

Summer is upon us and panic will soon set in as us Brits strive to fit all our favourite warm-weather pleasures into a single week of sunshine before the rain returns. Here's how to get through it...

The scenario...

You've used every ounce of energy dancing to Skrillex on the festival's main stage and are in desperate need of a rest, but disaster has struck: a huge gust of wind has blown your tent away!

Bear's tips!

"There are thousands of ways to gain shelter if you find yourself tentless! Survival's first port of call is resourcefulness. Look everywhere around you. There may well be natural shelters, like trees and bushes, which will keep you out of the wind. Or maybe just ask a friend if they'll share with you. Together we're stronger and warmer!"

The scenario...

In a show of manliness, you and five friends are crowded round a tiny barbecue trying to light it, while the rest of the party moans about the lack of food! How can man make fire?

Bear's tips!

"Just persevere! That's the key – sometimes it's taken me hours to get a fire going. Remember: it needs oxygen, heat and fuel. Most people will just smother a fire, not giving it enough air. You've got to build it up. Look after it when it's small and it will look after you when it's big."

The scenario...

You're walking along the beach and overhear two gorgeous girls discussing how much they like bodyboarders. In a bid to impress them you decide to give it a go... and end up getting swept out to sea!

Bear's tips!

"The first thing is don't panic! Don't swim against the current: you'll just get tired and drown. Try to swim across the beach and avoid the rip current, where all the water is being dragged away from the beach. Once you're out of it, get yourself back to the shore."

The scenario...

Everyone's coming over to yours for an al fresco bank holiday dinner. But as your guests take their seats at the table, the dog gets a whiff of the cooked steaks and before you know it, it's too late for any last-ditch rescue attempt.

Bear's tips!

"It won't always taste nice, but there's absolutely loads to eat if you know where to look. Berries, roots, grubs and worms will all fight off the hunger while you run to the shops. Only the other day I took Kate Winslet out on an adventure and I cooked her some barbecued worms. That was delicious."

The scenario...

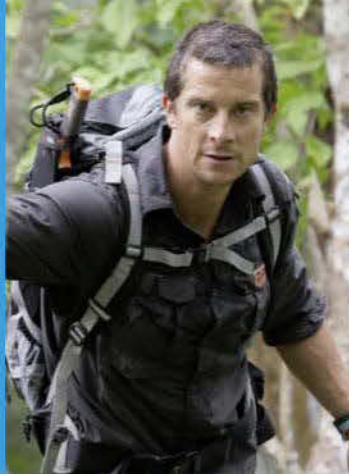

Last summer's day at the cricket was absolutely ruined after you forgot your sun cream. Despite not wanting to repeat the same mistake again, you have...

Bear's tips!

"Just cover up! Stick a hat on and make sure you're not that bloke stripping off as soon as it heats up – that's a classic Brit thing to do! In the Army we considered sunburn as a court-martial offence because there's only one person to blame: yourself!"

WINSLET

"RAT BOILED IN WEE? I'VE EATEN WORSE"

HOW DO YOU COPE WITH NORMAL ACTIVITIES, LIKE SHOPPING?

They break me! Shopping is my Kryptonite. I'll go sometimes for my wife, and it feels like all my energy is being sapped. I do my best to avoid it!

HOW DOES IT GO DOWN WHEN YOU ASK CELEBS TO DRINK THEIR OWN PEE?

It doesn't go down well at all! Luckily we don't have to do it that often. I took Michelle Rodriguez out the other day and we boiled a rat in her wee.

IS THAT THE WORST THING YOU'VE EATEN?

No, but it was pretty low down the list. What I've learned in the wild is that food isn't always going to taste good, but you need the energy, so you just have to put your prejudices aside and get on with it. Luckily the guys who come along want an adventure and embrace it.

IS IT TOUGHER TO TAKE ALONG FUNNY BLOKES?

Of course. All I did was laugh when I took Ben Stiller on a wild weekend. It's hard when you're having to lower each other down a mountain, but then I'm lucky enough that I've been able to introduce them to a little bit of my world.

IBIZA'S HOTTEST RESIDENT LEADS OUR CELEBRATION OF SUMMER'S MOST SPECTACULAR HOTTIES!

Think a Balearic summer couldn't get any hotter? Well, you're wrong! The delightful Daisy Watts has swapped the streets of London for the shores of party paradise Ibiza.

You'll all be pleased to hear we're expecting plenty of poolside snaps to appear of a scantily-clad Daisy as she tries to rid herself of those pesky tan lines she dislikes so much. If this hasn't got you excited enough for the warmer weather, Daisy's selection of summertime sensations will...

HELLO DAISY. HOW IS IBIZA TREATING YOU?
It's a non-stop party! And then I just try to keep myself as Everywhere! I'm always at the daytime parties, they have these really hot girls hanging from ribbons in the sky doing these amazing routines. Then at night I tend to head to Sankeys and Amnesia for the music!

IS IT THE MADDEST PLACE
YOU'VE PARTIED?

Definitely! The parties are so good, nobody wants to stop. We may get kicked out of one → place, but we'll just carry on somewhere else because we're having so much fun. We normally stop by the afternoon the next day so we can rest up for the next party.

CAN WE EXPECT PLENTY OF SNAPS OF YOU AND YOUR FELLOW MODELS OUT PARTYING?

I'm having to book out my spare room each weekend! It'll be overflowing with girls all summer! I always end up with more people over than I'm meant to.

SO, WHO'S COMING OVER TO SEE YOU?

Rosie Jones, Kelly Hall and Jess Davies are all coming over soon. India Reynolds will be

• Relegated Hull City have never won a Premier League fixture in the month of May (D4, L9)

⚽ Jamie Vardy had as many assists from open play as Eden Hazard in the Premier League last season (8)

⚽ If the Premier League had started when Alan Pardew took over at Crystal Palace, the Eagles would have finished sixth

⚽ George Boyd became the fourth player to play for two relegated teams (Burnley & Hull) in the same season. He joins Mark Robins in 94-95, Steve Kabba in 06-07 and David Nugent in 09-10

THE SPECIAL ONES

⚽ Jose Mourinho has only lost two Premier League games by three goals (3-0 vs Middlesbrough in 2006, 3-0 vs WBA in 2015). James Morrison won both games

⚽ The four managers to defeat Jose Mourinho this season all had names starting with P: Pardew, Pochettino, Parkinson and Pulis

⚽ The top two passing combinations in the Premier League in 2014-15 were Fabregas to Hazard (520 passes) and Hazard to Fabregas (380)

⚽ Chelsea used fewer English players in the Premier League than any other side this season (3: John Terry, Gary Cahill & Ruben Loftus-Cheek)

⚽ Jose Mourinho has won a trophy on average every 34 games during his managerial career

⚽ In 2014-15, QPR were the only team not to record successive victories in the Premier League

FIRST TIME FOR EVERYTHING

⚽ Southampton became the first team in the Premier League era to score five goals in the first-half of a match, and five goals in the second-half of a match in the same season

⚽ Leicester became the first club to overturn a two-goal deficit against Manchester United in the Premier League era, when they beat them 5-3 in September

⚽ Wayne Rooney became the first player to score 10+ goals in 11 successive Premier League seasons

⚽ Gareth Barry became the first player to pick up 100 yellow cards in the Premier League. To date, he has 104

⚽ Manchester United have now gone two seasons without a trophy for the first time in 26 years

⚽ This season marked the first time brothers Kolo and Yaya Toure played against each other competitively. Kolo's Liverpool came away with a 2-1 victory over Yaya's Manchester City

⚽ Richard Dunne became the first player to reach double figures in own goals after taking his tally to 10 earlier this season

⚽ Stoke collected more than 50 points in a Premier League season for the first time in their history

⚽ Man City 3-2 Aston Villa was the first game in Premier League history to have goal scorers from three different South American countries: Sergio Aguero (Argentina), Fernandinho (Brazil) and Carlos Sánchez (Colombia)

⚽ Steven Gerrard's last Premier League game was the first time he had ever lost by more than four goals in the top flight

⚽ As the season ended, Man United had been in every possible position in the table apart from first, second, 18th, 19th & 20th

ZOO TALKS TO CALLUM SMITH

“I want to scupper the DeGale vs Groves rematch!”

Ahead of his big step-up, the youngest Smith brother reveals his plans to get in the way of the next British super-fight

CALLUM, YOUR NEXT FIGHT AGAINST CHRISTOPHER REBRASSE IS THE ACID TEST. HAVE YOU BEEN STUDYING HIS PERFORMANCE AGAINST GEORGE GROVES?

I've definitely watched it a few more times since. He's a good physical fighter and easily the toughest I've faced, but these are the fights I want to be involved in, so I'm looking forward to it.

GROVES COULDN'T STOP HIM. CAN YOU?

George tried and couldn't, so I'd be a fool to go in there looking for the knockout. He's never been stopped before, so me and my trainer Joe Gallagher have a good game plan for a points win. Anything else will be a bonus.

WITH YOU PURSUING THE WBC TITLE THAT GROVES IS FIGHTING FOR THIS SUMMER, ARE YOU

PLANNING TO GET IN THE WAY OF HIS REMATCH WITH JAMES DeGALE?

That's the plan! I'd like to see that fight myself, but I'm in touching distance of a shot at the WBC title and, if Groves does win that, I'd like to take it off him before DeGale gets to him. Winning the world title is much more important to me than fighting Groves, but I do believe I have got the beating of him style-wise if it comes off.

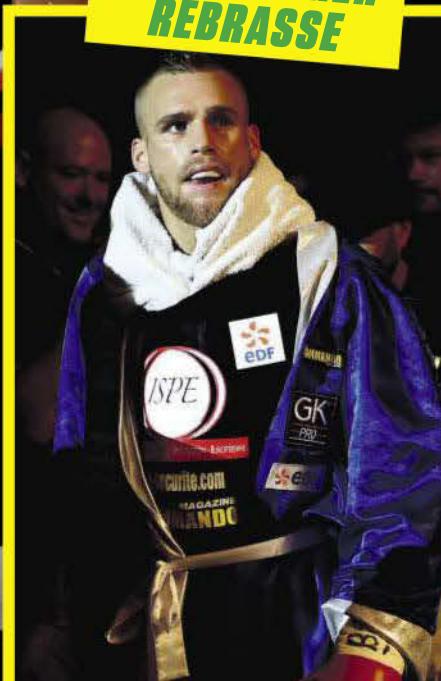

NOW MARTIN MURRAY HAS STEPPED UP TO SUPER-MIDDLEWEIGHT,

WILL IT BE EVEN HARDER FOR YOU TO GET TO THE TOP OF THE DIVISION?

All the British fighters are ranked decently, so the domestic fights are on world level. But as long as I keep winning and keep improving, I do believe that one day I'll beat them all and become the best super-middleweight out there. People will know a lot more about me after this fight.

BEING THE YOUNGEST SMITH BROTHER, YOU MUST HAVE HAD IT EASY AT SCHOOL...

CHRISTOPHER REBRASSE

WHICH IS GB'S BIGGEST FIGHTING CITY?

I wasn't big until I left school and got my growth spurt. I got looked after quite a bit because Liam, who was fighting the most as a kid, is only two years older than me, so we were in school together.

WHAT DOES THE NICKNAME "MUNDO" MEAN?

It means "world" in Spanish. My dad called me it when I was two, and it's stuck with me ever since. I don't think he even knows why he called me it, but people close to me started using it, so I kept it.

WHO IS YOUR FAVOURITE LIVERPUDLIAN BOXER?

It's a tough one, because there are a lot of good names coming through. I've known Tony Bellew since I was a kid, and I've always enjoyed watching him. I was in the same amateur gym as him and I think, as a cruiserweight, he's brought the excitement back to that division. You can't rule out David Price either, as you're always guaranteed knockouts with him.

WHO'S GOING TO BRING A WORLD TITLE BACK TO MERSEYSIDE FIRST?

Tony Bellew is close to a title shot. My brother Stephen is very close to getting one, as is my other brother Liam. The city hasn't had a world champion in a while, but I think we'll have a few in the next couple of years.

OUCH! 2015'S WORST SPORT

Some sportsmen aren't content with just giving "110 per cent" in their chosen pursuits. Recent horror incidents show they also want to leave with some pretty gnarly war wounds...

Ow-zat!

INJURY BROKEN JAW AND LACERATIONS

At school, you're always taught to keep your eye on the ball. Surrey cricketers Moises Henriques and Rory Burns showed admirable respect to this old adage while going for the same catch in a recent T20 Blast game against Sussex. Burns got off lightly, suffering concussion and cuts to his head and eye. Henriques, meanwhile, might want to consider soft food for the foreseeable future, after he ended up with a jaw broken in three places. To make matters worse, the catch was put down. Lucky the game was abandoned then...

South East Coast Am

We knee-d help! INJURY DISLOCATED KNEE

In the twilight of his career, and putting on a show for any watching scouts, Mainz's Colombian midfielder Elkin Soto's burst forward against relegation-threatened Hamburger SV came to an abrupt end when the ligaments in his left knee – all of them – snapped, his knee dislocated, and he nearly collected Rafael van der Vaart's cojones to boot. Mainz offered Soto a new contract, but a leg that doesn't look like a horseshoe would probably be preferable.

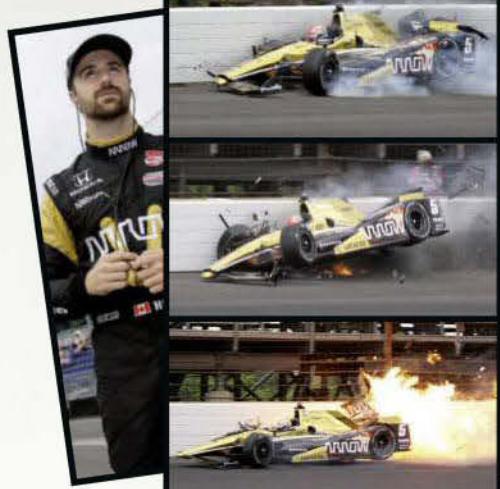

Lip service! INJURY SPLIT LIP

The French Pro D2 isn't the most illustrious of league competitions, but it still enticed New Zealand-born ex-Super Rugby utility back Lachie Munro to Lyon. Facing Narbonne, the Kiwi was left with a fairly extreme case of a split lip, which put him out of the game for two weeks and required more than a tub of Carmex to sort. If his looks didn't put prospective love interests off, the sloppiest of French kisses may have.

Roman ruins INJURY FRACTURED WRIST

Hands are perhaps the least intrusive part of a hurdler's physique, used only to power them between obstacles. But for Olympic Gold medallist Sally Pearson, her left hand proved a major problem after the recent Diamond League meeting in Rome. Falling at the fifth hurdle, Aussie Pearson suffered what doctors described as a "bone explosion" – a dislocation and complex fracture of both the ulna and radius – which nearly led to an amputation. As far as sicknotes for Baku go, this one's pretty decent.

GO TO COMMERCIAL! INJURY BROKEN ARM

Ex-Penrith Panthers prop Ben Ross was enjoying his role at the Men Of League Foundation when fellow Queenslander and RL veteran Wendell Sailor challenged him to an Iron Arm Challenge live on TV. As the contest began, a sickeningly audible "snap" was followed by an even louder "fk!", as Ross suffered a spiral fracture of his right humerus. Although, having broken his neck in 2009, this was probably just seen as a "minor scrape" for Ross.

Off the beaten track! INJURY FRACTURED PELVIS

The Indianapolis 500 is arguably the world's greatest motor race, although Canadian driver James Hinchcliffe may not agree after his spectacular crash in practice, where his Honda smashed into the wall and slid in a ball of flames. A steel wishbone penetrated the cockpit, entered and exited his right leg, then pierced his left leg, before settling in his pelvic region and pinning him into the car. On-track medics saved his life.

"The riskier the jump, the better!"

FMX rider Rob Adelberg takes ZOO inside the crazy world of freestyle motocross

With the show-stopping spectacle that is freestyle motocross (FMX) heading to England for the first time in September, we thought it would be wise to get a heads-up on the sport from top Australian rider Rob Adelberg.

The global arena-touring event, known as Night Of The Jumps, pits the world's best FMX riders against each other to see who can pull off the most death-defying stunts. Here, Rob shares his experiences...

Foam practice makes perfect!

"My dad bought me a motorbike when I was three. From a young age, I knew this was the career for me. I now have a home-built practice course with most of the standard jumps. To be safe, I have a large foam pit – around 10m wide and 13m long. It allows me to work on more risky tricks."

Crazy parties!

"When I was 16, I went on tour in Thailand. We were out at this crazy party and, for some reason, out of nowhere, we started getting pepper sprayed and chased, while in the back of a truck, to our hotel. Eventually the promoter paid some money and we didn't go to jail. That was my welcome to freestyle!"

Huge leap!

Crash landings!

"My worst injury was at an event in Salt Lake City, Utah. I was attempting two jumps in a row and, after the first, I accidentally put the bike gear into neutral and couldn't stop in time for the next one. I broke my right scaphoid, right heel, left rib, fibula and shattered my left talus."

Scary jumps!

"The most exciting thing about riding is the chance to showcase new tricks and to push your limits. I'm full of adrenaline when I jump. The most challenging freestyle skill to master is the Cali Roll. It's very risky but, when executed right, it feels awesome and the crowds absolutely love it."

Jet-set lifestyle!

"All the riders travel together, and see amazing cities and sights with each other. There is that competitiveness on the night, but we're all good mates off the bikes. Prague is the best place we've been to. The mad parties and lovely ladies are the highlights."

→ Night Of The Jumps is at London's O2 on Saturday 5 September. Tickets, from £35, available at theo2.co.uk/events/detail/night-of-the-jumps
